Event/Activity Name	Awareness Camp on Fostering Women's Empowerment in Cooperatives
Brief Information on the Activity	Punjab, known for its rich agricultural heritage, is witnessing a quiet transformation—one driven by women stepping into cooperative leadership and entrepreneurship. Traditionally male dominated, cooperatives in Punjab are increasingly embracing women as members, managers, and decision-makers. Women now manage small businesses in dairy, tailoring, vermin composting, and food processing, fostering both family income and community leadership. In essence, Punjab's cooperative landscape is evolving into a platform for women's empowerment—fostering entrepreneurship, equality, and sustainable development in rural India.
Date of Event	25 th June 2025
Objective	To promote PACS to aid in Fostering Women Empowerment through Cooperatives & hence raise their standard of living
No. of Participants	62
Achievements & Outcomes	Members present in the event appreciated the concept of women empowerment through cooperatives
Photography & AV Content

Additional Remarks

Punjab's journey in women's cooperative empowerment is marked by promising pilot successes—from dairy and handicrafts to bio-based processing. Yet, for scale and sustainability, the next step lies in institutionalizing support: enabling training, finance, leadership, market integration, and digital inclusion. When women lead cooperatives, they become catalysts for social transformation and rural resilience. Investing in their capacity is not only equitable; it is strategic for Punjab's economic future.
