Century old LTCCS consisting of SCARDBs and PCARDBs is one of the earliest credit institutions in India. However, it looks rather strange that SCARDBs are yet to be recognized as Credit Institutions by Reserve Bank of India under the provisions of Credit Information Companies (Regulation) Act 2005. Credit Information Companies (CIC) are authorized to collect, maintain and analyse credit information of individuals and businesses and calculate their credit scores, which are typically in the range of 300 to 900 with a score above 750 considered ideal for securing a loan from any bank or financial institution on favourable terms. When lending agencies increasingly rely on credit score for advancing loans and deciding its terms including interest rates, it is important that individuals and businesses maintain a clean credit history without delay or default in repaying loans already taken. Banks therefore, consider high credit score of the borrower as a guarantee for timely repayment of loan under normal circumstances. However, when the borrower had his earlier loans from an institution which is not a member of any CIC, his credit score given by CICs do not reflect his credit history. Since SCARDBs are not recognized as Credit Institutions by RBI, they cannot become members of CICs. Consequently even wilful defaulters of SCARDBs can secure high credit scores which is totally misleading. This is not a small issue considering the huge membership of SCARDBs exceeding 1 crore households. Ideally, all Credit/lending institutions should be members of CICs to make the credit scores given by CICs reliable and useful to credit institutions to manage credit risk.

It is in this context that the study on 'Reforms, Restructuring and Innovations in ARDBs' undertaken by the Ministry of Cooperation recently through NABARD Consultancy Services (NABCONS), recommended RBI to permit SCARDBs to become members of CICs, which apart from making the credit scores of CICs more reliable for other banks, will also help ARDBs to improve recovery of loans. However, RBI has not responded favourably to the request of the Federation to permit SCARDBs to become members of CICs under Section 2(f) (viii) of Credit Information Companies (Regulation) Act 2005. RBI has informed that "it is not considered feasible to allow SCARDBs to become CICs under IC Regulation Act at this point of time." RBI has not mentioned any reason, why SCARDBs which are engaged only in lending and credit activities cannot be allowed membership in Credit Information Companies. We request RBI to reconsider its decision since membership of SCARDBs in the CICs will strengthen the credit information system and make credit scores more realistic and reliable for other lenders. More importantly this will avoid the present situation of wilful defaulters in LTCCS getting high credit scores from CICs and loans from other credit institutions at favourable terms while continuing to be a chronic defaulter with the SCARDB.

Co-ops only option for employing everyone: Shri Amit Shah at Manthan Meeting

In a major effort to strengthen India's cooperative ecosystem, Union Home & Cooperation Minister Shri Amit Shah chaired the "Manthan Baithak" on 30.06.2025 in New Delhi. The high-level meeting, attended by Cooperation Ministers and senior officials from all States and Union Territories, marked the beginning of celebrations for the International Year of Cooperatives 2025 and focused on shaping the next two decades of cooperative development in India. He said that the purpose of this reflection and brainstorming can only be fulfilled if all 140 crore people of the country get employment and live their lives with hard work, and to make this successful, GOI has taken 60 initiatives. He outlined the govt's ambitious vision to ensure the presence of cooperative institutions in every village within the next five years. He emphasized the critical role of cooperation in uplifting rural India and empowering over 60 crore people who now aspire to become entrepreneurs after a decade of access to basic facilities like housing, electricity, healthcare, and clean water. "Cooperation is the only option to ensure employment & economic participation for all 140 cr. Indians," he said. The Minister highlighted key reforms initiated by the govt in the cooperative sector, including the modernization of laws, expansion of activities, and transparent recruitment practices. He also stressed the importance of the National Cooperative Database, a tool to identify gaps and plan expansion, stating it will guide efforts to establish cooperatives in underserved villages. The govt established Tribhuvan Sahkari University (TSU) to bring consistency and professionalism to cooperative training. He urged states to affiliate at least one training institution with TSU and manage all cooperative
